People, Jobs and Housing in the Woodford Bluegrass

Versailles • Midway • Woodford County Planning Commission

Background Study and Plan Element for the 2005 Comprehensive Plan Update

Special points of interest:

- This is the fifth update in the history of planning in Woodford County (1969, 1977, 1989, 1997 and now).
- Woodford households are getting smaller
- Woodford has the highest per capital income of any county in the Bluegrass Region
- The population is growing at a modest rate.

The Update Process

This Report is one of six Background Studies/Plan Elements prepared for the Comprehensive Plan Update. Other studies/elements include: Mobility; Regional Coordination; Woodford Resources; Community Facilities and Services; and The Use of Woodford Land.

The purpose of the Background-Study portion of this report (Chapters 1-5) is to review historical trends and current conditions, and identify issues and opportunities for the community to address in the planning process. Trends, issues and opportunities provide a “stepping-off” point for the community. This information is helpful in measuring the success of prior plans and fine-tuning goals and objectives.

Chapter 6 contains the adopted Goals and Objectives for this Element of the Comprehensive Plan Update
